LET OUT FROM CANE FACTORY - NOW BIG MAN

PHARMACY DEAN TELLS OF STRANGE REMEDIES OF OLDEN DAYS SPEAKS TO LIONS CLUB

A one-time Newmarket boy, Dean O. R. Hurst of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, University of Toronto, told something of the romance of the pharmacist's profession and something of the wonders of modern chemistry, at the Lions club on Monday evening.

He was introduced by Chester Best, druggist, and a former student under Dean Hurst.

How a displeased foreman at Cane's factory "fired" him, was related by Dean Hurst. "It was the best thing that ever happened to me," he said, indicating that it had been the means of launching him on his career as a druggist.

"Pharmacy dates back to at least 1500 B.C.," declared Dean Hurst.

"In the United States a druggist is one who handles only certain, simpler drugs, while a pharmacist handles all sorts of drugs," he said. "In Canada the two names are interchangeable. In England they speak of a chemist, and in France and Germany they use the name, apothecary."

"In early days the physician and pharmacist were the same. Today there is a sharp line of demarcation. The physician finds the trouble and sends you to the pharmacist, who with his skill makes up the prescription. On the other hand, we are not allowed even to interpret a pain. That is the physician's field."

Dean Hurst mentioned among some of the strange drugs of the old-time druggists: urine of a newborn child, herbs gathered at sunrise with incantations said over them, powdered skull of a person who suffered a sudden death.

"It was only in the last century that these things began to disappear," said Dean Hurst.

About 60 years ago, he said, telling of one of the amazing discoveries of modern science, coal tar, a by-product of the manufacture of coke, was just waste. It was piled up in great quantities. Then a chemist discovered that it could be used for the making of dyes. This discovery has tremendously brightened up our homes, our clothes, all our surroundings, Dean Hurst said. Dyes were previously difficult to obtain.

"Today the chemist can make better perfumes artificially than the perfumes from flowers," he said.

SIMCOE SOFTBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZES FOR NEW SEASON, RE-ELECTS OFFICERS

At the annual softball meeting of the Lake Simcoe softball league, held in Mount Albert, on Saturday night, Bill Robertson of Mount Albert was re-elected president for the eighth consecutive term.

The league has done so well under his leadership that they just would not let the popular president retire, despite his desire to do so.

In fact, all of last year's officers were re-elected, with the exception of Neil Shortreed, Keswick, who this year found it impossible to devote the time necessary to carrying out of the league duties. Mr. Shortreed has been a valuable officer of the league and will be greatly missed.

The teams represented at the meeting were Keswick, Queensville, Zephyr, Sharon, Mount Albert and Pine Orchard. Willow Beach was not represented, but it is certain they will again be playing when the umpire says "play ball." The officers elected were as follows: president, Wm. Robertson, Mount Albert; 1st vice-president, Albert Hillaby, Sharon; 2nd vice-president, Jas. Hope, Pine Orchard; secretary, Jas. Denne, Queensville; treasurer, Horace Pearson, Mount Albert; publicity agent, Norman McLeod, Queensville; league umpire, Norman McLeod.

CITIZEN GIVES $200 TO MAKE PARKS SURVEY

COMMISSION REPRESENTATIVE OF TOWN ORGANIZATIONS FORMED TALK OF FIVE-YEAR PLAN

A town parks and beautification commission has been organized. At a meeting held in the fire hall on Friday evening representatives of the town property committee, the Horticultural Society, Newmarket Fire Brigade and the Lions club were present.

Each of these organizations has agreed to name two representatives to the commission. The two bands are also to be invited to name representatives on the commission.

A citizen has given $200 to pay for an expert survey of the town, Norman Williams, representing the Horticultural Society, informed the meeting. A five-year plan of beautification might be undertaken, he said.

The purpose of the commission is to co-ordinate the efforts of all organizations striving to beautify the town, Councillor D. O. Mungovan explained to the Lions club on Monday evening.

He was introduced by a fellow member of the town property committee, Councillor Frank Bowser.

"It would be much better for the town if all improvements were carried out under a central public commission for the beautification of the town," Mr. Mungovan said. "We ask you to throw your heartiest support behind the proposal to make Newmarket the beautiful town that it should be."

"The idea is to make a survey, paid for by a private source, so that we would be all working in the same direction."

Mr. Mungovan said that the proposal would not affect the Lions club's control of their own park, and that the proposal involved no financial obligation.

On the motion of F. A. Lundy and K. M. R. Stiver, the club agreed to accept the proposal.

President Alex. Eves named W. M. Cockburn and G. L. Manning as the club's representatives on the commission.

Definite Trip Plans Promised Next Week

EFFORTS TO SECURE TRAIN FINALLY SUCCESSFUL, SECRETARY SAYS
TRAVEL AT OWN RISK

Newmarket school children will see the king and queen, and they will go to Toronto by train, but final details are not yet arranged, according to information obtained from R. L. Pritchard, secretary of the public school board.

Following a joint meeting of the high school and public school boards on Friday evening, an effort was made to charter a train but without success. A train was obtained, however, through the intervention of Aubrey Davis, president of the Dais Leather Co.

The train will be made up at Allandale and ten of the 12 cars will be reserved for Newmarket children, Mr. Pritchard said. Each car will accommodate about 65 to 70, making a total of 650 to 700. This will include teachers.

Due to changes in plans, and varying announcements in the Toronto press, definite information for the children will not be available until next week.

Present indications are that the children will leave here at 3 p.m., standard time, Mr. Pritchard said, and that they will be away five hours, that is not getting home until 9 or 9.30 p.m. daylight saving time. This may mean that they will need to take a lunch.

"The children will be taken only with the consent of the parents," Mr. Pritchard said. "The teachers will exercise every care, but it must be understood that the children go at the parents' risk."

NEWMARKET BOXER DEFEATS CHAMPION
Johnny O'Connor, Newmarket boxer, defeated Gordon Schmalz, 1938 Canadian amateur champion, in Toronto Wednesday evening.

The Newmarket fighter set a pace at the start that kept the ever-crouching Schmalz missing with hard right hands, which left him open for the body punches landed by O'Connor as he tried to slow the hard-hitting Schmalz up.

"Les" Reilly, Athlete And Sportsman, Dies Suddenly

ACTIVE PARTICIPANT IN TOWN AFFAIRS, WAS KEEN ON SPORT

Ill in bed since only a week ago, Saturday, George Reilly died last night in his 47th year. He was well-known as a sportsman and had lived practically all his life in Newmarket.

SPENT $7,000 AND ONLY $300 BEHIND

With a turn-over of $7,000, an old boys' reunion in Gravenhurst, without any help from the municipal council, had a loss of only $300, Geo. McRae, Toronto, president of the Toronto Gravenhurst Old Boys' and Old Girls' Association, told the Newmarket old boys' reunion committee on Tuesday evening.

The $300 loss was gladly made up by business men who had given a guarantee, Mr. McRae said. Mr. McRae planned and managed the reunion, working on it for two and a half years.

A. C. West presided over the meeting in the council chamber.

FATALITY OCCURS NEAR KESWICK

SHADY MAPLES SET OUT BY LIONS CLUB

Four slim and graceful red maples were planted in the Lions club park on Tuesday, by the Lions park committee under the chairmanship of Frank Bowser.

Mr. Bowser was invited to take over the chairmanship at a Lions meeting Monday evening, in succession to W. L. Bosworth, father of the park idea, who said that he found himself too busy to give the park the time it deserved.

POWER WILL BE OFF

The power will be off in the town of Newmarket, from 5 a.m. to 7 a.m. on Sunday, May 14, it has been announced by the Electric Light department.

PEPPER AND SALT

Newmarket should be well in line for some good race meets this year. The visit of their majesties, who are awarding the king's guineas to the plate-winners, will give impetus to the sport. The local lay-out is one of the finest in Canada and with the addition of the grandstand looks like a million.

A real drawback to harness racing has been the slow way in which the horses get to the barrier. The fans who lay money on the line like to see a fast program.

The various softball aggregations are now in late spring training. Schedules are being drawn up Friday night. The feminine heart-throbs coached by Alex. Webster promise to produce some classy games. They have lots of zip and style.

Girl softballers have been drawing the crowds in U.S. circuits and have developed the game into big business. Here's hoping the girls get a moniker that spells action.

It should be worth a slug in the slot to see. It's expected Canadian honors will be at stake for the meet. If that's sure dope, a fast array of talent will show its wares. The old boys' committee aren't missing a bet, as far as the sport angle is concerned.

A good downfall of rain this week put local tennis courts in tip-top shape. A few days before, the dust which was kicked up camouflaged base-line shots and played havoc with tennis outfits.

RETURN FROM SOUTH

Misses Miriam and Florence Tremblay, Toronto, who have just returned from a visit to their uncle and aunt in Los Angeles, California, spent the weekend at their home on Millard Ave. On their return, they visited the fair at San Francisco, and had stop-overs at principal places going and coming, and report a most delightful visit and trip.

RETIRING MISSIONARY VISITS SON HERE

Dr. and Mrs. D. G. Cook, who have recently returned from Central India, have been spending a week of the week with their son, Dr. J. Gordon Cook, and Mrs. C. J. Gordon Cook, Keswick.

Dr. Cook is retiring after 45 years' service on the mission field, 38 of which he spent in India, two with Dr. Wilfred Grenfell on the Labrador coast and two in the Yukon during the '98 gold rush.

YOUNGSTER DROWNS IN FOUR FEET OF WATER

Charlie Watson, little son of Mr. and Mrs. William Watson, was found drowned in front of his home at Ansorsveld on Saturday afternoon by his father. He would have been four years old yesterday.

The little lad had fallen into four feet of water and only the locks of his blonde hair were visible when his father, who had gone to the irrigation creek in front of the house for a pail of water, noticed him.

Doctors R. H. Judge of Bradford and L. W. Dales of Newmarket attempted artificial respiration for more than three quarters of an hour before hope was abandoned of saving the boy's life.

Charlie was the second youngest in the family of hard-working Scottish farmers, who live on the outskirts of the Dutch settlement, in the heart of the Holland Marsh.

A CHAT WITH THE ERA

We in Newmarket have much of which to be proud. With the old boys' reunion approaching on horseback, we naturally think first of our Newmarket history. The story of our pioneer settlers is a proud one. We are proud of our reputation as a sporting town. We have had great teams in various lines of sport. We are proud of our bands. The Citizens' Band has a long history of service and achievement. The R.S.A. Bugle Band, in its few years of existence, has had spectacular success. It is inferior to no other bugle band in the province.

Then too we are proud of our town. It is ideally situated, near a great highway and yet not on it. In a lovely valley between two ranges of hills, with a stream coursing through the heart of the town. We have many pretty homes and gardens. Our schools are splendid. Newmarket teachers are away out in front in the adoption of the spirit of the new course of studies for public and separate schools. Our high school is an exceptionally fine institution for a town of our size. Its scholastic standing is high.

Particularly too we are proud of the many Newmarketers abroad. We are just beginning to realize, as plans for the old boys' reunion progress, in how many different and distinguished fields of life our old boys and girls walk. They are to be found everywhere, anywhere there is a hefty job to be done, putting their shoulders to the wheel.

We think too that we can all be proud of the Newmarket Era. It is 86 years old. It has always enjoyed a wide reputation as a community newspaper. It has brought honor to Newmarket on several occasions, bringing the name of Newmarket to the attention of people in every part of Canada. Among newspaper and advertising men it has more recently attracted attention by its success as a paid-in-advance weekly, the first in Ontario.

The Era goes out of this town every week, advertising this town, bringing back customers, and knitting together into a closer friendship the people of town and country. Yes, we can all be proud of The Era, for we have all had some part in the building of it.

SPEAKS AT BRITISH ISRAEL MEETING

Sydney Sparks of Toronto gave an admirable address to the British-Israel World Federation meeting last Sunday afternoon, taking for his subject, "The Dividing of the Nations." Mr. Sparks is a forceful, convincing speaker and he left many things for his hearers to ponder over.

Mr. Vincent of Toronto, well-known to all Newmarket members, will give the address next Sunday afternoon. The members were all greatly pleased to have the president, Wm. Dixon, at the meeting once again.

CUBS VIE FOR COOKING HONORS

Last Saturday some 22 Wolf Cubs of the 2nd Newmarket Pack, under Jack Hamilton and Art Fortier, went on a most successful hike.

The Pack left the Cub hall around 2 o'clock and went west to Alf Lewis' farm on Huron St. Here the Pack turned north and camped about a mile north of the farm. This being the Cubs' first hike, not a great deal was done about passing tests, although they did play games. At 5 o'clock each started to build their fires for supper. In about 15 minutes one could tell that potatoes, bacon and eggs were being fried by the smell in the air.

For the best fire and cooking the honors went to the Grey Six, with the Red Six second and the Tawny Six third. For the best tea and coffee making, the honors went to Ronnie Eves and Art Fortier. After the fires were carefully put out, the Cubs started for home, arriving about 7 o'clock.

WATER, WATER!

A supply of water for domestic use is a recurrent and almost ever-present problem in this town. Wells dry up and new wells must be sunk. New debentures are issued to pay for the new wells. The farmer, faced with the same problem, isn't able to issue debentures. He must reduce his stock or transport water from a creek or from the well of a more fortunate neighbor. Water runs far below the surface, and naturally no one knows just where or why. Occasionally, discovery is made that when one well is sunk it robs another. This points to the existence of underground streams, but it is impossible to chart any map of the subterranean water channels.

King Township Tragedy

One thing we do know, because both science and our common sense tells us, is that we contribute to our water shortage problems every time we drain a swamp or cut down a tree. A tree not only protects the ground from the sun's rays, but its roots help to hold the water from wet weather for dry weather. The Davis-Mayall report on King township is both a sad story and a hopeful story. It is sad because it tells of the destruction of forests, the drying up of streams, the coincident gradual disappearance of the rich top-soil. It is hopeful because it points to a cure.

Top-Soil Blows Away, Farmers Follow

Col. W. P. Mulock, M.P., who himself owns a King township farm, told parliament recently, drawing his information from the Davis-Mayall report: "The ground water, or reserve of water supplying springs and wells, has been seriously lowered since the main woodlands in the township were cut. It is interesting to note that the four permanent streams now draining the township all have their origin in areas of ungrazed woodland. Coincident with the lowering of the ground water level there has been a noticeable increase in the number and severity of both spring and summer floods. The present trends in regard to the water reserves in the township are very low, and it can be forecast that further depletion of woodlots will lead to a further lowering of the ground water, with consequent drying up of springs and streams. Both sheet and gully erosion are now very common in the township. The most spectacular form of erosion is the formation of gullies, but economically it is the loss of the top-soil which has caused the abandonment of many farm lands which never should have been cleared. All these lands are either too sandy or too steep to give any hope of sustained yield under cultivation. They are admirably suited to the growing of trees, however."

It's Newmarket's Problem!

Probably the springs on which Newmarket's deep wells are dependent have, to some extent, their origin in King and the other surrounding townships. King's problem is our problem. But more than that, the prosperity of Newmarket depends to no small extent on the prosperity of King, Whitechurch and East Gwillimbury farmers, and their prosperity depends on the fertility of the soil. Everybody is familiar with the great waste areas in Whitechurch, farms which are now deserts of sand. Why shouldn't we in Newmarket take a more active interest in this problem? The dominion government proposes to spend a considerable sum of money on reforestation plans, we believe. Why should we not co-operate with the farmers of King in endeavoring to have a start made in York county, on the basis of the survey already made? The work would soon spread to Whitechurch, East Gwillimbury and, indeed, as its success became more and more apparent, to all Canada.

FARMERS AWAKE

Farmers are not a really important group in this dominion. That seems clear from the lack of publicity and comment attending a remarkable farm movement now under way in Canada. For the first time, farmers are organizing in a national way to impress their views on the federal government. The Canadian Chamber of Agriculture was organized last year, and since then two important national conferences of farmers have taken place, one at Winnipeg, and the other, a month ago, at Montreal. The farmers seem to know what they want, and they have been impressing their views on Ottawa. Ottawa, naturally, is reluctant to accept radical farm proposals for a controlled agriculture, but Ottawa is bound to accede if the farmers keep up their bombardment.

Not All Working Yet

When we speak of "the farmers" we mean the farm leaders, for as yet the average farmer hasn't taken any particular interest in what the farm leaders are doing. The farm leaders have not only the government to convince, but also the average farmer to arouse and interest. When average farmers become interested in the proposed national program, then the government of the day must fall in with the suggestions being made.

They Hate To Do It

The gist of the farm argument is this. Limitation of production and control of marketing, on the face of it, is not a good thing, but in a country where labor unions and industrial combines are holding up the prices of their products in an artificial way farmers, or the government for them, must do the same, or be ruined. The farmers, who represent one-third of the population, are, or should be, such an important part of the purchasing power of the dominion that it is in the interests of the entire population to see that farm prices are maintained at a fair level—that is, at a level, we suppose, which will give them as good a living as the average labor union member.

Vulgar Fractions

At the present time, the farmer buys at the other fellow's price and sells at the other fellow's price. The farm leaders are not asking for a "law agin' it" but for legislation which would enable them to organize and compel the minority of farmers to stick to the rules. The idea is not just to get a little more money out of the consumer of farm products, but to maintain and raise the quality of products, thus paving the way for a larger place in export markets, and to be able to buy more of the products of Canadian industry. Well-to-do farmers mean well-to-do industries. One-third of the population, the farm group, are now receiving only one-sixth of the national income. If, instead, they were to get one-third, it is argued, the total income of the nation would be so increased that the remaining two-thirds would be much greater than the former five-sixths.

A NOVEL EXPERIENCE

One of the most interesting experiences of our recent trip to Ottawa and Montreal was a visit to the Neurological Institute, which is associated both with the Royal Victoria Hospital and McGill University. The institute looks like a hospital, with wards, both public and private, but also has facilities for study of the brain and nervous diseases. The head of the institute is a brain surgeon and the high point of interest was the operating-room.

Strange Bit of Art

The writer was shown through the institute, after a stiff climb up Mount Royal, by his brother, who works at the institute in the capacity of a research psychologist. The floor of the entrance was tiled in a modernistic design of the brain. The ceiling carried a drawing of the brain, and even the table-tops and the steel heating outlets were similarly significant of the business that was going on around and about.

Brains On Display

In the laboratories on the top floor were bottles and bottles of brains, which were not in the least revolting. Instead, after treatment by chemicals, they had the appearance of crisp and white cauliflower, although solid within instead of leafy.

No, Not Entertainment

We did not go into the operating-room, but instead went up a narrow and winding stair to the gallery. We nearly fell over when the word "gallery" was mentioned. To what had surgery come, we thought. Had the surgeons gone into the show business? The writer recalled his father's white-painted tin-walled surgery in a Nova Scotia village and wondered. There were two or three rows of seats in the gallery, sufficient to seat an audience of about a dozen people. You looked down into the operating-room as though through one of these sloping stream-lined car windshields, into the car from the top of the engine hood. The patient's head would be right under this glass shield, and the surgeons and nurses in the operating-room could converse, by means of speaking apparatus, with other surgeons or students or psychologists in the gallery. The spectators use opera glasses to enable them to follow the surgeon's work.

Epilepsy Sometimes Cured

This institute is doing all sorts of marvellous things. One of them is to cure epilepsy, in some cases, by removing part of the brain. At the same time, while carrying on its work with people who are suffering from various forms of brain injury, the institute is gathering data on the effect on the individual of the removal of various parts of the brain. Thus science advances.

INSURANCE AGAINST AGGRESSION

The best way to ensure Canada against foreign aggression, according to our thought, is by filling up those vacant areas which are so frequently spoken of as tempting conquest. Military conquest of Canada is to us, like military conquest of the United States, fantastic, but no doubt it is true that our sparsely settled territory is the envy of crowded populations. There would be no cause for envy if this country were opened up in a reasonable way to orderly and selective immigration. Canadians hold this country in trust for civilization, but we must not think ourselves superior to all other races and refuse to accept their contribution to the making of the new world. There is one other way in which we can lessen envy in other countries and that is by lowering the tariff barriers which make it impossible for the hungry people of Europe to buy our vast agricultural surpluses.

YOUNG CHIPS FORGETS HIS FAMILY CARES

BY RUTH DINGMAN HERE

"This is what I'd call 'the hot and the cold of it,'" said Merry Chickadee to her mate, Young Chips. "I've had to keep fanning myself with my wings every once in a while, to keep from stifling. It's so warm in here in our nest. But, of course, the eggs must be looked after."

"The sun beat on the tree trunk all morning—and I guess our hole hasn't cooled off again," suggested Young Chips. "However, it was so cool when we were picking out our nesting site that a sunny spot appealed to us. I guess it was a mistake."

"Oh, it may be cool again by tomorrow," said Merry.
"Well, I'll go and find you something to eat and at the same time find out the news, and then I'll have something to tell you about," volunteered Young Chips, and he hurried away. He was gone over an hour.

"My goodness!" exclaimed Merry, when he finally appeared. "I thought you must have got lost. I got so impatient that I left the nest several times and snatched a bite of food for myself. I figured the eggs wouldn't get cold today."

"Here, take this food," mumbled Chips, "and I'll tell you where I've been. I decided while I was out I might just as well run down to Main St."

"Why, you didn't tell me you were going that far," exclaimed Merry. "I'm surprised at you."

"Nonsense, my dear—that's no trip at all," replied her spouse. "By the way, I suppose you've heard all the Killdeer shrieking up and down these fields near our home. There seem to be a great many of them about."

"Indeed I have," said Merry. "I tried to have a little snooze after you left, but the Killdeer were shrieking so noisily and the Meadowlarks singing so loudly that I just couldn't doze off."

"That reminds me—the Purple Martins are back on Main St.," said Young Chips. "The street was very noisy, and at first I didn't realize who was making the racket."

The Common Round

PUTTING THEM AWAY

By Isabel Inglis Colville

"Where did you put that red-handled screw driver?" demanded the head of the house, as he prepared to remove storm doors and put up our defence against flies and mosquitoes.

"I haven't seen that screw driver for a year," said I, somewhat belligerently, as I wrestled with my own problem of where I had put Conservatory application forms.

"I put all your tools that come into the house in a basket in the shed," observed mother, as she stood with a far-away look in her eye, when she said that "someone had moved the sage and savory from where she had put them and she couldn't find what she needed."

"Well, I can't take those doors off till I find the screw driver," said my better half, with firm finality.

"The children can't sign application forms if there are none to sign," chanted I, antiphanically, while mother, with her head in the cupboard, remarked with some bitterness that she wished when people moved things they'd put them back, for "I can't make dressing without savory."

Eventually we found what we sought—or something else—but it brought to my mind again a plan I have always felt should be put into action where spring and housecleaning and gardening are the order of the day.

This is to make lists of important things which are put away in

A dust cloud several thousand feet thick was lashed by a 40-mile gale on Tuesday across southern Saskatchewan. The dust blotted out the sky and in some towns caused darkness that required street lights to be turned on.

The question of a federal general election this year is just another puzzle as far as Agriculture Minister Gardiner is concerned. "No one knows, including myself, whether there will be an election this year," he said on Tuesday night during the wheat debate, when questioned by Conservative Leader Manion.

Response to the Pope's suggestion that the Vatican City be put at the disposal of the five interested powers for a conference on the Danzig issue, has met with such non-committal responses that the suggestion may have to be discarded and some other method tried for preventing that issue from precipitating the war, for which all are preparing and none wanting.

The annual meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held at the home of Mrs. Burton Hill, with the president, Mrs. Arthur Winn, in the chair, on Tuesday afternoon.

The devotional exercises were in the charge of Mrs. C. Winger. The leader read from the book of Timothy and also the 37th Psalm. Mrs. Winger gave some excellent thoughts from a pamphlet, "The Upper Room." "Persuasion comes only by experience," she pointed out. "Many, many times the heart finds peace and rest."

Prayer was offered by Mrs. Winger.

It was decided that a tea would be held in the Temperance hall on May 19.

Mrs. Roy Rose read "The Wonderful Tale from India." The program of the Congress is "Prohibition for India in five years or less."

Reports were given by the superintendents of the different departments.

Mrs. Philmister read the nominating committee's report, which was accepted as read.

POLICE COURT SNYDER ACQUITTAL CITED IN CASE HERE

For leaving the scene of an accident, Jack Donnelly, Bradford, was sentenced to five days in jail by Magistrate W. E. Wood. In police court here on Tuesday. On a second charge of reckless driving, Donnelly took the jail sentence of 15 days rather than pay the fine of $20 and costs of $23.10, the two sentences to run concurrently. In addition, Donnelly's driver's license was cancelled for three months. C. T. S. Evans, Bradford, was sentenced to five days in jail by Magistrate W. E. Wood. On April 26, at 6.30 p.m. I was driving north on Yonge St. and Donnelly, who was going north also, was behind me.

testified Fred Rolling, Aurora. "This was on the two-lane highway and Donnelly was behind me and another car was coming south. Donnelly tried to pass when the other car was passing and I had to get over on the gravel to give him room. "The southbound car and myself were both travelling at between 45 and 50 m.p.h. when Donnelly passed us," Mr. Rolling continued. "I saw Donnelly again at Richmond Hill. I thought after the accused passed me that he was driving recklessly as he had a 1938 Chevrolet. At Richmond Hill I was talking to Donnelly and there was a slight odor of beer on his breath and his movements were very irregular."

"What did you think would happen when you saw Donnelly was going to pass you when another car was passing?" asked Mr. Evans.

"I thought that the three cars would be in the centre unless I pulled off to the side," stated Mr. Rolling.

"I was also forced to slow down and pull over to the shoulder of the road when Donnelly passed me as a southbound car was passing," testified Wm. Newton, Aurora. "After Donnelly passed me I followed him and when I saw that he was off the road at times on the gravel. Near Langstaff he pulled out to pass another car on a hill and he went over the solid white line."

"Two other cars were forced to pull over to let him pass," said Mr. Newton. "He also pulled out to pass another northbound car and he hit a southbound truck and went on a third of a mile without stopping. He was driving in the centre of the road at this time. I stopped in Richmond Hill when I saw that Donnelly had stopped and at first he seemed unsteady when he started to walk, but after that he was alright."

"Did you say that Donnelly walked alright?" asked Mr. Evans.

"Yes, I wondered how he could walk so well, as I had some suspicions about the way he had been driving," stated Mr. Newton.

"I was going south on Yonge street and when I first saw Donnelly he was about three truck-lengths ahead of me," stated Wm. Bryan, Toronto. "There was a roadster ahead of me and when I saw his stop light go on I knew he was applying his brakes, so I applied mine too."

"Donnelly came up behind a car, veered left, and hit me a glancing blow on the door," Mr. Bryan said. "At the time of the impact there were three cars abreast with Donnelly in the centre. He took the handle off the door, split the door, took off the lock of the tool-box, and scraped the side of the truck. Donnelly didn't stop and I didn't see him until some time after he hit me."

"There was about $25 damage done to the left side of the truck and the markings behind it showed that the brakes had been applied for 25 feet back," stated Provincial Constable A. O. Ferguson. "I talked to the accused and in my opinion he had been drinking some. There was an alcoholic odor on his breath."

"Donnelly could walk alright when I got there, which was about half an hour after the accident, but he was more or less lost as to the location. He thought he was in Aurora but instead he was in Richmond Hill," the constable testified. "I pleaded Donnelly under arrest and locked him up at Langstaff."

"Was there a strong odor of alcohol on Donnelly's breath?" asked Mr. Evans.

"No, there wasn't a very strong odor but it might have disappeared through the use of perfume candy," answered Constable Ferguson.

"I talked to Donnelly and he was very talkative and insisted he was in Aurora," testified Provincial Constable Howard Jackman. "The accused was chewing perfume candy. He admitted drinking beer and in my opinion he was in no condition to drive a car."

"Would you say Donnelly was drunk?" asked Mr. Evans. "No, I would say that he was under the influence but that he was not intoxicated enough to lay a charge of drunk driving," answered Constable Jackman.

Donnelly told the magistrate that he was married, that he had been out of work all winter and that he had only been working for a week. He had a couple of glasses of beer with his dinner at noon in Toronto then went to a show before returning to Bradford, he said. The Rolling car ahead of him suddenly slackened and he had to go either on the car tracks or pass, so he took a chance and passed, Donnelly stated.

After hitting the truck, the left rear fender of his car was flattened on the tire, so he went on to the top of the hill in Richmond Hill, then stopped, but he had no intention of running away, Donnelly stated. "Couldn't you have stopped sooner?" asked Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K. C. "I stopped at the first suitable place," answered Donnelly. At this point the magistrate registered a conviction on the reckless driving charge.

Wm. Menton stated that he followed Donnelly after he hit the truck and that he didn't stop until one-third of a mile distant and that there were lots of places where he could have stopped. Detective Sergeant Sidney Barracough stated that Donnelly stopped opposite the Rustic Inn in Richmond Hill about one-half mile north of where the accident took place.

Mr. Evans told the magistrate that he thought there shouldn't be a conviction registered on the second charge of leaving the scene of an accident when there was a conviction registered for reckless driving. In a recent case in Toronto that attracted a lot of publicity, the accused, who had the best counsel in the land, got off on a technicality after he killed a man riding on a bicycle, whereas the accused, who has been out of work all winter, had the two charges laid against him, Mr. Evans stated.

The magistrate, however, disagreed and said that it was a miserable and despicable thing to leave the scene of an accident. A charge laid against Joseph and Martin Seibert, King township, of trespassing on the land of Alex. Frontzen was adjourned one week.

Two charges of reckless driving and having illegal possession of liquor laid against Michael J. Enright, Aurora, were adjourned one week.

The two charges of keeping liquor for sale and having illegal possession of liquor laid against Arthur and Catherine Holley, Holland Landing, were adjourned for another week.

Ronald H. Robertson, Kirkland Lake, speeding, $10 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Lionel Quinn, Camp Borden, speeding, $10 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Fred Roden, Bolton, no operator's license, $10 and costs, charge laid by County Constable A. Fleury.

Fletcher Goudie, Stouffville, no operator's license, $10 and costs, charge laid by Constable Fleury.

Grace Gagnon, Toronto, speeding, $9 and costs, charge laid by Constable F. Dunham, Aurora.

Cecil Scharie, Toronto, speeding, $7 and costs, charge laid by Constable Dunham.

Helen Kemp, Toronto, speeding, $9 and costs, charge laid by Constable Dunham.

G. Frank McDonald, Sutton West, speeding, $7 and costs, charge laid by Constable Dunham.

J. Sidney Hallam, Toronto, speeding, $7 and costs, charge laid by Constable Dunham.

Henry Jonaspon, Orillia, speeding, $5 and costs, charge laid by Constable Dunham.

Charles Barrett, Orillia, speeding, $9 and costs, charge laid by Constable Dunham.

Arthur G. Lang, Toronto, no operator's license, $10 and costs, charge laid by County Constable Ronald Watt.

Maillard Spence, Stouffville, no operator's license, $10 and costs. Charge laid by Constable Watt. On a second charge of not having his 1939 license plates, Spence was remanded for sentence.

Charles Elborn, Toronto, speeding, $9 and costs, 46 m.p.h., charge laid by Constable K. Mount, Newmarket.

Two charges of having illegal possession of liquor, laid against Gordon Hayes, Toronto, and Roy Faulkner, Palmerston, were adjourned one week.

On a charge of attempting to pass, Vincent Hortleib, Kitchener, was fined $2 and costs, or two days.

Constable Ferguson testified that Hortleib, who was driving a motorcycle with a man on the back, turned out to pass a car while meeting two cars coming from the opposite direction and that he forced the two cars onto the shoulder of the road.

Hortleib told the magistrate that he didn't see anything wrong in passing and that he had insurance on his cycle, a clean record, and that he was always careful.

Convicted on a charge of consuming liquor illegally, Allan Job, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs of $4.25, or ten days, and the liquor found in his car at a dance hall at Musselman's Lake was ordered confiscated. A similar charge laid against John Ford, Toronto, was dismissed.

Constable John Williamson testified that Job was the owner of the car that he asked him to get out of the car that he found one part bottle of whiskey on the ledge at the back of the car and that he found another small bottle in the glove compartment. Both Ford and Job smelled of liquor and but said they had been drinking, the constable stated.

Constable Watt corroborated this evidence and said that for two men were not intoxicated. Job admitted that he had been drinking in the car.

John Ford said that he had a drink of beer in a hotel at North Toronto but that he had not been drinking in the car.

A charge of having illegal possession of liquor laid against Charles Sheppard, Toronto, was dismissed and Sheppard was allowed to take his case of beer from the court room.

Constable Watt stated that he found the case of beer unopened on the floor of Sheppard's car with a rug thrown over it. The constable said that Sheppard didn't appear to have been drinking and that he said he was taking the beer to some friends where he and his wife were staying for the weekend.

Sheppard stated that he was taking the case of beer to some friends who lived at Musselman's Lake and that when he got there he found there was no one at home, so he and his wife went on to the dance hall and found part of the family there.

Pleading guilty to a charge of illegally consuming liquor at a dance hall at Nobleton, Arthur Beck, Schomberg, was fined $10 and costs of $4.25, or ten days, and the pint of beer found in his car was ordered to be confiscated.

A charge laid against Henry McGann, Newmarket, of not purchasing a garbage collection license for 1938, was adjourned one week for sentence to allow him to purchase a license.

Mr. Mathews stated that Mr. McGann was the only collector who didn't purchase a license for 1938.

On two different occasions, in December, 1938, and April, 1939, he went to see him and asked him to buy a license and told him the other two collectors had their licenses but on both occasions he refused to buy a license until one of the other collectors was put out of business, Constable Jas. Sloss stated.

"I've been on the job for 12 years and I never had any trouble until the other collectors were put on," said Mr. McGann.

ELECT JURY TRIAL IN FORGERY CHARGE

On two charges of procuring a false message and forgery, Ross Draper and Theodore Huntley, both of North Gwillimbury, each elected trial by jury in Newmarket police court Tuesday. The preliminary hearing was partly heard and will be completed next week. Campbell Line, Richmond Hill, was defence counsel.

A letter was sent to The Newmarket Era and published, testified A. O. Hebb, in response to questions by N. L. Mathews, K. C., crown attorney. The letter bore the signature of Charles Draper and the editor thought it was sent by him. The letter purported to announce the marriage of Mrs. John Draper to William Ralph Draper, both of Keswick. After the wedding notice given in the letter was published the newspaper received a complaint from Mrs. John Draper, the alleged bride in the notice.

"I am a son of Mrs. Ralph Draper and Wm. Ralph Draper is my brother," stated Charles Draper. "Mrs. John Draper's husband who is dead now and I were first cousins. That is my name on the bottom of the letter bearing the announcement but I didn't sign it and it was not signed with my knowledge and I didn't authorize anyone to write or sign the letter. It is false for my name to be mentioned in the notice as having been at the wedding. William is about 40 years old."

"I am a widow 60 years old and in January I was living with Mrs. Ralph Draper, who had a broken arm at that time, but since then she has died," stated Mrs. John Draper. "Mrs. Ralph Draper's son, William, lived at home. Ross Draper, the accused, is a brother of William. I know Huntley slightly and he is the son-in-law of Ross Draper. There have not been very good relations between Ross and William and they are not friendly."

In answer to a question from Mr. Mathews, Mrs. Draper agreed that there had been family disagreement over the division of Ralph Draper's estate. "I saw the wedding announcement in The Era on Jan. 26, and my name was used in it but the particulars in it were wrong," Mrs. Draper said. "A good many of my acquaintances saw the notice and called me on the phone to know if it were true and I was subjected to considerable talk because of the item."

"It also affected my health and I had to go to the doctor," she said. "Charles Draper called up after the notice was published and congratulated his mother, with whom I was staying, on her new daughter-in-law. There was no reason for the letter being sent in at all and the facts in it were entirely incorrect."

A letter sent from Theodore Huntley, one of the accused, to his brother, Robt. Huntley, Jr., Newmarket, was identified by Robert, who also testified that the letter sent to The Era was in his brother's writing.

"On Feb. 22, accompanied by Detective Barracough, I went to the home of Ross Draper and interviewed the two accused," testified County Constable Watt. "Mr. and Mrs. Ross Draper and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Huntley live there together. They all denied any knowledge of the wedding notice except that they had seen it in the paper."

"Huntley and Draper refused to give me their signatures," the constable said. "Before we went to Ross Draper's, Charles Draper gave me his signature and it did not correspond with the one on the letter sent to The Era. Then I went to the home of Theodore Huntley in Newmarket and secured a sample of his handwriting from his father, Robert Huntley. I compared the sample and the writing on the notice and they were the same. I went again to Ross Draper's on Feb. 27 with Detective Barracough."

"I saw Huntley and cautioned him before I asked him any questions," the constable continued. "He denied writing the notice in the paper but when I showed him the sample given me by his father, he then admitted writing the wedding announcement."

"At this time we were talking to Huntley at the barnyard and Ross Draper kept walking back and forth and we had no privacy. So we took Huntley back one-eighth of a mile to where our car was parked because of the deep snow," continued Constable Watt. "When we got into the car I again cautioned Huntley and after I cautioned him he again admitted the signature was his. He then gave us a signed statement and it was witnessed by Detective Barracough and myself. After Huntley gave us the statement he was nervous about going back to the farm, so we went back with him."

"The other accused, Ross Draper, came running out of the barn at us with a pitchfork and he threatened us," said the constable. "His face was very red and he asked us if we had a warrant to come on his property and we said no. We talked to him for a few minutes and then he calmed down. We gave him the statement written by Huntley but he said he couldn't read, so we read it to him. Ross said to us, 'If the boy wrote it, lock him up,' and he made no other statement. Ross then agreed not to abuse Huntley in any way."

"Did Huntley ever give you any trouble?"

"No, he gave us the statement of his own accord after we got him away from Ross Draper's."

"What did Mrs. Draper do when you went into the house?"

"She is suffering from a heart ailment and when we went into the house she got quite flustered and said the letter should never have been written."

"Did Huntley tell you why he wrote the wedding announcement?"

"He told us that Ross Draper had been considering writing it for a month."

Mrs. Huntley was called to the stand and told that she did not have to testify against her husband but that she was to answer a few questions. Mrs. Huntley gave her age as 18 and stated that she had been married nearly two years and that she and her husband lived at home with her mother and father. Mrs. Huntley said that she had never seen her husband's writing or her father's, and that her father and Wm. Draper, her uncle, were friendly and that there was no trouble between them over their grandfather's estate.

"My father and husband did not give the police a sample of their writing when they came to our house," Mrs. Huntley stated.

At this time Magistrate Wood-liffe adjourned the case one week to decide about questioning Mrs. Huntley.

R. J. Miller returned home last week after several months' sojourn in the British Isles. He enjoyed the trip greatly, and presents in an interesting way a description of the places of interest visited and of the kindly reception tendered to a Canadian in the mother country. A few of his many interesting experiences were a two-hour view of London from the air, a journey from Liverpool to Glasgow by aeroplane, inspection of the liner Queen Mary, viewing the building of the liner Queen Elizabeth and a close-up view of their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth.

Early spring in the British Isles is shown by the fact that the blossoms of the cherry and apple trees were falling before he left for home.

SPRING OFFICIALLY OPENED - -

BY THE CARDINAL BIRD

By GOLDEN GLOW

This has surely been a queer spring - spring, if we dare call it by that name, for we associate renewed life and growing things with the word - rushing waters, the return of the birds, and the bursting into bloom of pussy willows and wild flowers. A month, and more, behind the calendar date, spring arrived with a bang when the ice, all of a sudden, decided to depart from Fairy Lake. Then before we knew it - almost overnight - the grass was green, pussy willows fairly jumping into bloom, English violets carpeting their flower beds, early snowdrops and bluebells (I should say Scilla, but bluebell describes them so beautifully), willows all yellow, getting ready to leaf out - people out raking lawns and burning last fall's leaves that got missed, housecleaning, painting and paper-hanging. And especially the new spring clothes - so gaudy and bright, and also so unique! The birds are very busy hunting out a proper location to build their nests and start housekeeping! Small boys, and boys not so small, hunting out fishing tackle, for the run of perch has been announced from all the little streams and the rivers flowing into Lake Simcoe, and from Keswick to Newmarket the papers reported record crowds over the weekend. I have seen them there by hundreds other years, but not this year. The paper reported a record crowd, and cars parked in the road where parking space was limited. Men, women, boys and girls and even children, wherever there is a little stream up which the perch can swim, are busy with hook and line. The suckers and the pike, they say, have been very plentiful too. "The blessings of the deep," as it says in Genesis 49: 25. I expect the muskellonge and pike are now out of season, and as soon as the weather turns warm, suckers will not be so popular. Up around Sutton, past "The Briars" at Sibbald's, at the Black River mouth, at Mossington Park, is one of the popular places, and at the Jersey river at Maskinonge Park - and on that splendid large cement bridge on the Pefferlaw river on the "Seven Mile Stretch" from Sutton towards Port Bolster - I've seen them as thick as peas in a pod, all intent on fishing for the pretty perch with the pinky horizontal stripes round their body. However I can't ever get anything to interest me like the birds - the flowers! Driving past Fairy Lake the other Sunday, just after the ice went out, I saw a boat with some folk out for a ride and flying above them three wild ducks. I wonder if the hitherto back to nest again in the rushes farther south, up the stream. The air is full of bird voices and early each morning the robins hold their song service. I have to hear them and nothing can get me up and out of bed quicker than a new bird note. It surely is the "early bird catches the worm" (horrid expression!), for later in the day the bird voices are not so plentiful, and no doubt our feathered friends hide themselves. There is a woodpecker that drums incessantly early every morning quite near my window, and a pair of flickers, with their hoarse call, building again quite near. The oriole hasn't come back as yet, but any day now we will hear his lovely voice up in our maple tree - and I know I'll rush out to welcome him no matter what I am doing when he arrives! If the oriole sings beautifully, what word can I use to describe the song of the cardinal yesterday? Mr. Maitland, from Pickering College, another friend of the birds, told me in the winter if I thought the whistling of the cardinal was lovely, wait till I heard it in the spring and summer. Well, I've heard it - and words literally fail me to tell how perfectly delightful it was, so liquid sweet, such deep-throated notes, such trills - nothing strident, but soft and full, and such harmony, you'd think there were two voices at times. I stood entranced for fully five minutes, almost underneath it, as it sang to me from the old maple tree that hangs over from our neighbor's garden. I hoped its mate would come, but no doubt it was listening farther over, out of my sight. I dared not move for fear it would stop singing. I never in my life heard anything to equal it. Oh, if that grand bird has stayed because we fed them all winter, I surely had my reward, "pressed down and running over," as the scripture says. Then first thing this morning my neighbor called me to note him. I seen the cardinal lately, for she had it there for breakfast, both the cardinal and its mate, this very morning. So I told her of my hearing it sing yesterday! I do hope they build round here and stay with us all summer. What an honor! Then this morning I had another experience. My little doggie boy friend, Laddie, had come to say good-morning as I was out on the front verandah. So he came in for a "snack." And I went about my usual morning duties with Laddie

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stickwood, Queensville, wish to announce the engagement of their second daughter, Helen Mary, to Joseph Carl, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Glover, Ravenshoe. The marriage to take place quietly May 29.

TRINITY BRIGHTENS UP FOR REUNION WEEK

Trinity United church has given Newmarket a good lead in preparing for the Old Boys' Reunion. During the past three weeks, some eight or ten local men have been carrying out a program of repairs to the church and parsonage.

About $1,000 is being spent and not only will the entire property look in first-class shape for the reunion, but this amount has greatly helped local business and local employment. Altogether Trinity has carried out improvements to the extent of $2,500 dollars in the last ten months.

The entire auditorium of the church has been painted by A. G. Chantler and will be ready for use next Sunday (Mother's Day). Shrubs have been planted on the church grounds and a committee is now busy planning outside decoration for the big week. Many repairs have been completed at the parsonage and next week the painters will paint it. The use of the gymnasium has been offered to the reunion committee for registration purposes.

at my heels - when suddenly, as I stepped out on the side verandah to put out a milk bottle, a beautiful black squirrel darted down the steps, then stood and looked at me, waving its long, bushy tail, then sitting up to take a better look at me. I quietly pushed the storm-door shut behind me, for Laddie was just inside - down the driveway went the squirrel with its graceful way of moving, just rippling along - when out came Laddie and down the road went the pair of them, but, of course, the squirrel made for a handy tree. And if ever a dog laughed, then Laddie did! And so did I! He thought he had done something to protect me, I fancy, and was so terribly pleased with himself as he trotted back for me to pat him. Sure I laughed!

The big business man, who had never been known to get the worst of a deal, leaned back in his chair.

"So you want to marry my daughter, eh?" he asked the young man who stood by the fireplace. "Well, tell me this. Could you lend me $1000 at once without security?"

The young man lost no time in replying:

"Yes, sir," he said. "I could - but I wouldn't!"

"Good," replied the delighted business man. "Certainly you shall marry my Jane. I'd trust her with any man who showed a spirit like that."

Festival Gives Many Thrills To Spectators

QUALITY OF PERFORMANCE IS PRAISED BY VARIOUS ADJUDICATORS

Perhaps the greatest thrill of the festival, for the spectators, apart from the joy of seeing one's own child romp home with a medal, came on Tuesday afternoon, when members of 22 rural school choirs, completely filling the body of the Aurora United church, united in singing the first verse of "The Maple Leaf".

Many were the compliments paid by the various adjudicators on the quality of performance and on the choice of test pieces.

"It is fitting that the music festival should be held in Aurora," stated Deputy-Warden Earl Bales, in officially opening the festival on Monday evening. He was introduced by Dr. C. R. Boulding, M.O.H., president of the festival.

Detailed results of the festival to date are as follows:

Monday morning—piano solo (under 12 years): Eileen Jackson, Newmarket, 86; Eunice Bell, York Twp., 81; Dorothy Warren, Aurora, 82.

Piano duo (under 13): Shirley Fingold, Dorothy Warren, Aurora, 86; Helen Epworth, Eileen Jackson, Newmarket, 85; Marilyn MacInnis, Billy Ewing, Newmarket, 84.

Piano solo (under 9): Catherine Bailey, Newmarket, 86; Helen Strachan, Mt. Dennis, 85; Elizabeth Macpherson, Lansing, 83.

PREPARE FOR VISIT OF KING AND QUEEN

HEALTH PRECAUTIONS HAVE BEEN TAKEN, ACTING
MAYOR STATES

The government's action in temporarily lifting the ban that prohibits trucks from carrying passengers has lessened the worries of a number of municipalities in connection with the coming visit of the King and Queen.

Acting-Mayor J. A. Knowles told The Era this week.

Municipalities which have been unable to find other means of transportation for the school children will therefore be able to make use of trucks for this purpose. It is believed this method will be used in Whitby.

Proper facilities for sanitation will be provided, Mr. Knowles said, and there will be four St. John's Ambulance hostels to take care of the York county children, who have been allotted four sections, "D", "E", "L" and "M" along the route of the procession.

Aurora children will go into the exhibition grounds through the Dufferin St. entrance, and will be located just behind the Manufacturers' building.

Veterans and Boy Scouts will assist in taking care of the children, Mr. Knowles said, and a variety of entertainment will help them to enjoy the time spent in waiting for the procession to arrive.

BOWLING OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT, GREENS GOOD

Excellent playing conditions are expected to be the rule in the Aurora Bowling Club this year, President C. A. Malloy stated this week.

"Never have the greens come through the winter so well," he declared.

The club will open the season this year with a mixed bowling tournament, scheduled for May 24. Preparations are under way to make the day a big one for the club members and their friends.

POSTMASTER TELLS OF TRANS-ATLANTIC MAIL

Mrs. James Whimster was re-elected treasurer at the Ontario Women's Liberal Association convention held at Niagara Falls last week.

Mrs. Lorne C. Lee was elected assistant-treasurer. Others present from Aurora included Mrs. John Klees, Mrs. J. McCarrroll and Miss H. Dickson.

Hon. Norman McClarty, Canada's postmaster-general, brought to the convention and spoke of the need for unity and loyalty.

In discussing Canada's mail service, Mr. McClarty stated that six million pieces of mail had been handled in one day in Toronto during the Christmas season.

Arrangements for regular air mail service between Canada and England would be completed early in June, he stated. Mail would leave London, England, at 7 p.m., Monday evening, arriving in Toronto on Wednesday morning and in Winnipeg late on Wednesday afternoon.

Hon. Colin Campbell represented Premier M. F. Heppburn at the convention.

Resolutions were passed, expressing the good wishes of the convention to the King and Queen, and expressing adherence to the principles of Liberalism and to the cause of unity in Canada.

On the second day of the convention the ladies were addressed by past-presidents of the association, and later a two-hour tour around Niagara Falls was much enjoyed.

Little Moments in History

John M. Harlan, while judge of the United States supreme court, was one day playing a round of golf on the Chevy Chase links with an Episcopal bishop. The bishop missed one shot several times, but made no comment. However, he showed his disgust very plainly. Harlan looked at him a moment, and said: "Bishop, that is the most profane silence I ever knew."

Yardstick

Q. What is the TVA yardstick?
A. It is the triumph of mind over matter.

"Do you think that the radio will ever take the place of newspapers?"

"No; you can't swap files with a radio."

He-I've wanted to ask you a question for weeks.

She-And I've had the answer ready for months.

TEN REASONS FOR A NEW COUNCIL

What are the actions on the part of the town council, or a majority of the council—styling themselves "the group of five"—which have brought our town into disrepute?

1. They dismissed the town treasurer without reason and left him to learn first of his dismissal from the press.

2. They demoted a town clerk who had given 12 years of faithful and efficient service—without justification. Confronted with the charge that the real purpose had been to make a vacancy in the clerk's office for someone else, they produced several minor criticisms of the town's books from the auditor's report as full justification. These flimsy grounds for their drastic treatment of a faithful employee disappeared with the publication of a direct, written statement from the auditor himself that he did not approve of the action taken and that, in his opinion, greater efficiency would be gained by the appointment of an assistant clerk.

3. They made these dismissals and appointed a new treasurer and clerk with undue haste, making these important decisions before the public knew that such a question was even under consideration.

4. They advertised for applications for the office of clerk and treasurer in a Toronto newspaper, but made the appointment the day the advertisement appeared, before the applications could reach them.

5. They did not advertise locally for applicants, and they did not make any attempt to find the most suitable person for the position so suddenly and so unjustly declared open.

6. They appointed to the post a sick man who had not applied for it, and made no provision for the signing of cheques during the interregnum.

7. They appointed a friend and business associate of one of the group of five, and did not consider the qualifications or claims of other citizens, thus doing an injustice to the public and embarrassing the new clerk.

8. They ignored the pleas of the mayor for justice to town employees, and allowed the mayor's office to become vacant.

9. They have, contrary to the spirit, customs and traditions of municipal government, allied themselves as a group to make ineffective the words, wishes and votes of the mayor, reeve and the other minority councillors.

10. They have declared that they have settled the matter and that a new mayor, fresh from the people, shall have no voice in the question of the occupancy of the clerk's and treasurer's offices. In other words, they have said to the public: "This is our business. You shall have no voice in this matter."

Is it any wonder that this "group of five" hesitate to offer their records to the judgment of the public? Can they possibly think that they could return to the council with the seal of public approval on their lack of sportsmanship, their desertion of the accepted rules for the orderly conduct of public business, their dragging of Aurora's name in the mire?

JUSTIFICATION?

What is to be said in justification of the actions of the self-styled "group of five"?

As yet, they haven't said it very well themselves, but there must be some basis, however flimsy, for their actions.

Two members of the group, some believe, may have personal axes to grind, but what is to be said in explanation of the action of the other three men?

Loyalty to their leaders, right or wrong, might explain their continued adherence to the group's determined policy, but what was their original motive?

The affairs of few municipalities, and Aurora's are no exception, are, after eight years of depression, in an ideal condition. Tax arrears have piled up, and some municipalities, as is well known, even went into default on their obligations. Aurora is far from such a pass, and, of course, the clerk is not to blame for the accumulation of arrears. The holding of tax sales is a matter of policy for the council.

The clerk, without the help of an assistant or even of a stenographer, has had his hands more than full. He has held what the council now admit to be an impossible job for one person. Depression arrears have added to the immensity of the task.

It is easy to see how the junior members of the council, under pressure from members who wanted a change for other reasons, could be persuaded that the former clerk was not a bookkeeper, and, in fairness, it should be said that they probably started out with an honest desire to remedy what they considered an undesirable condition of affairs.

In fact, indications are that credit must be given to some of the junior members of the group of five in that original plans were modified and that a lesser injustice was done than might have been done.

Unfortunately, they had apparently been committed to a harsh and unjustifiable program before they heard the views of kindlier and wiser municipal men.

The truth is that Aurora's affairs, like the affairs of practically every municipality in the province, need the closest attention. Not only is efficiency needed in the clerk's office, but efficiency in council. It is probably fair to say that, allowing for human weakness and occasional errors on the part of both, Aurora has had efficiency in the clerk's office and in council, but the fact remains that two people are needed in the office, and strong, courageous and just people are needed in the council.

The real solution of the town's problem is co-operation between council and clerk. Let the injustice done to Mr. Andrews be undone. Let the council give him an able assistant like Mr. Willis, preferably after hearing the applications of others available. Let the town have the full benefit of Mr. Andrews' ripe municipal experience. Let Mr. Andrews have the reasonable salary to which his years of service entitle him.

Let there be co-operation among all, and let there be fairness both to Mr. Andrews and to the town.

LET VOTERS DECIDE

Let the people decide how their municipal affairs are to be conducted.

Let the self-styled "group of five" submit their actions to the public judgment.

The actions of the council, as dictated by the group of five, are well known to every citizen. The defence of these actions, as given by the three youngest members of the group of five, has also been presented to the public.

Let the people decide! Dignity and efficiency demand that the town have a mayor. At little or no extra expense the group of five can go to the people for a vote of approval at the same time.

At the last meeting of council, it was decided to meet again on Monday evening to arrange for nominations to be held for mayor. Let the resignations of council be accepted at the same time. One election will do for all.

Councillor Sparks has invited his fellow councillors of "the group of five" to resign with him and let the people decide. If they are right, the people will vindicate them. If they have made mistakes, in the public estimation, surely they will want the public to have a chance to rectify those mistakes.

Let the people decide! They pay the taxes. It is they who are the real employers of Mr. Andrews, Mr. McDonald and Mr. Willis. Let them say how they want their employees treated. Let them say how they want appointments made.

LITERARY GROUP HAS ORATORICAL CONTEST

DORIS HOLLINGSHEAD, BETTY BALL LEAD IN HIGH SCHOOL TESTS

Featuring the meeting of the high school literary society on Thursday of last week was the presentation of a play, "The Diamond Necklace," under the direction of Miss Christine Kirkwood.

The cast of four fine students included Mary Griffith, Joan Dodson, Beryl Wood, Bill Walker, Harold Folliott, and Clarence Fisher.

Miss Fry, vice-president of the society, was chairman of the meeting.

Leading in the senior oratorical contest was Betty Ball, of King, whose subject was "Pauline Johnson." Others in the class were George Davis, King, and Arthur Hill, Aurora.

In the junior section, Doris Hollingshead, Kettleby, took top place, with "Flowers" as her subject.

Russell Sayers, Aurora, Doris Geer, Kettleby and David Boyd, Aurora, also competed in this group and gave creditable performances.

Winners in each section have their name inscribed on the Clifford Case shield. Judges were Mrs. G. W. Williams, H. M. Magee and J. Breckenridge.

TO PROVIDE TOMATOES FOR KING AND QUEEN

The Miller greenhouses, in Maple, have been asked to provide tomatoes for the first banquet to be held for the King and Queen in Canada, in Quebec.

The order, which was for 350 pounds of tomatoes, specified that each be of a certain weight, and that they be of similar size and color.

And a broad smile comes to the face of Mary Caruso, when she says that the tomatoes sold in her shop come from the same greenhouses.

SOFTBALL HAMPERED, BACKSTOP IS BLAMED

A move to organize "town league" softball will be made at a meeting to be held in the town hall on Friday evening. All interested in town and mercantile softball, whether from an executive or player standpoint, are asked to attend.

Softball practices have been held during the week in an effort to find a line-up to carry the name of Aurora into the Simcoe league group. Practices are very much hampered, however, by lack of proper facilities, the club manager stated.

"It looks as if someone had driven a car through the backstop," he said, and claimed that the ancient chicken wire was no longer of any value.

BOWLERS OPEN CLUB HOUSE FOR SEASON

While the greens are not yet in shape for play, the social side of the Aurora Bowling club is going full blast, and on Thursday night of last week members met at the club for an evening of euchre and Chinese checkers.

Charles Malloy, president of the club, had charge of arrangements, together with Irwin Watts and William Morris.

H.J. Morton To Enter Contest For Mayor

CANDIDATE SEES NEED FOR BUSINESS-LIKE PROCEDURE IN COUNCIL

History will not repeat itself, so far as the last nomination meeting, called to find an occupant for the vacant mayor's chair, is concerned. Assurance that there will be at least one candidate for the position is found this week in the statement of Howard J. Morton, automobile and radio dealer, garage, and filling station operator, of Yonge street south.

Mr. Morton came to Aurora two years ago from Mount Albert, where he also operates a business, to make his home here and to establish his present firm.

"I have been studying the situation in Aurora for some time," Mr. Morton told The Era this week. "I have given the present state of affairs a good deal of careful thought. I have in the course of my business run into a good deal of discussion arising out of the situation in which the council now finds itself."

"Not all of this discussion, some of which reaches me, even when I am in Toronto, is favorable to Aurora, and I believe the present situation in council has been treated with far too much levity," Mr. Morton declared.

"To my mind, much of the present trouble could have been avoided had council followed more business-like lines of procedure," Mr. Morton continued. "I am not a municipal man, but "I am tied by no strings," Mr. Morton declared, emphatically denying that he represented any particular faction in council or out of it. "I am not affected by any prejudices in connection with the clerkship. What Aurora needs, and what Aurora wants, I feel, is the highest possible efficiency in the clerk's office."

Mr. Morton declined to comment on the council's treatment of the clerkship, other than to state that he believed a good deal of unnecessary trouble could have been avoided if council had proceeded on business-like lines.

"Business-like" seemed to be the key-stone of Mr. Morton's thought concerning what the proper operation of council should be.

"I am tied by no strings," Mr. Morton declared, emphatically denying that he represented any particular faction in council or out of it. "I am not affected by any prejudices in connection with the clerkship. What Aurora needs, and what Aurora wants, I feel, is the highest possible efficiency in the clerk's office."

Should Have Applications For Clerk, Visitor States

CLIFFORD HARMAN, OSHTWA COUNCILLOR, VISITS IN HOME TOWN

"I think you should have men from the factories, as well as professional men, representing the town in council," Clifford Harman, one-time Aurora and now a member of Oshawa's city council, said to The Era this week.

Mr. Harman, although a comparatively young man, is a veteran in municipal affairs, and was a member of Oshawa's city council as long ago as 1926. With the exception of two years absence through illness and one year when he was "nosed out" of council by a slim margin, he has been on Oshawa's council ever since.

In direct contradiction to the statement sometimes made that "newcomers always get the most votes," Mr. Harman's popularity seems to be on the increase, for he headed the Oshawa polls

WHY I BOUGHT TITE-LAP ROOFING AHEAD OF ALL OTHERS!

"I needed a new barn roof and I went into the matter very carefully. The annual report of my mutual insurance company showed that last year out of 15 fire losses 7 were caused by flying embers, and 3 by lightning. I talked to my insurance agent and he advised a fire-proof roof above all else so I decided on metal. Metal protects against fire and lightning and also against wind, weather, rot and upkeep."

I chose Metal and I bought TITE-LAP. Tite-Lap, to my way of thinking, has all the best features in metal roofing. It is rigid, has maximum provision for nailing, is absolutely weather-tight. I got the Council Standard quality, and the 25 year guarantee that goes with it. And I was glad to learn about the new reduction in cost because there's no sales tax any more."

VICTORIA SQUARE LOSSES STOREHOUSE, GARAGE BY FIRE

On Tuesday night of last week Misses Annie Avison and Mabel Sanderson, Messrs. Bruce Empringham and Boyd Mount attended the annual Young People's convention at Keswick.

Mabel Sanderson and Boyd Mount were elected to the offices of Christian fellowship and Christian culture convenors respectively and will represent Victoria Square on the presbytery executive this year.

On Friday night Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Nicholls, Misses Mabel Sanderson and Eva Wideman, and Boyd Mount attended the final round in the debating contest sponsored by the Y.P.U. of the Toronto Centre North Presbytery, held in the Sharon Community hall. Ravenshoe was challenging Temperanceville for the Geo. Wark shield and although Grace Pringle and Thos. Pherrill put up a splendid argument for Ravenshoe, (affirmative) Mac Harman and Wallace Jennings, for Temperanceville, were just a little better, in the opinion of the judges at least. The subject was "Resolved that the pen is mightier than the sword." Mr. Nicholls acted as one of the judges, together with Mrs. M. B. Seldon of Newmarket and Rev. Mr. Shannon of Queensville.

On Sunday the Women's Missionary society had charge of the services in the United church both afternoon and evening. Dr. Cora Kilborn of China was the guest speaker and in the evening her address was illustrated with lantern slides. The ladies' double quartette from Baker's Hill rendered several pieces in the afternoon and the Gormley male quartet sang in the evening.

P. W. Willows, local storekeeper, had the misfortune to lose his garage and storehouse by fire last Friday night. By the use of modern fire-fighting equipment other buildings not more than four feet distant were saved. During the excitement, however, R. E. Sanderson had the misfortune to have a painful cut in his head, causing a painful cut in his head.

While motoring home from Oshawa one night last week, Beatrice Frisby and Elmer Huggins had the misfortune to meet with an accident. The car was badly smashed but fortunately the occupants met with only very minor injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Constable of Vellore visited with Mr. and Mrs. Angus Valliere on Sunday.

"When you're hot and tired after a long hard game, do what famous athletes do—drink milk! Not all the scientists in the world would be able to find a better all-around pick-me-up. For a cool delicious glass of milk is more than just refreshing. Milk puts back the strength and energy you've spent. Everything your body needs is in the food of foods. Milk bucks you up better because it builds you up. It has no 'let-down' later. It is the true restorative. Get back to form—with milk!"

BUILDS SWIM POOL
AT TOURIST CAMP

The weather has been beautiful and warm, during the past week, and the grass and leaves are transforming the fields and woods into beautiful life.

Miss Margaret McCormack is at home again after spending a few weeks with her sister in Peterboro.

Mr. Geo. McCormack is preparing to shingle his house.

Mr. Shackman is commencing to build a dam on his pond, in preparation for his many summer guests, who visit him each year, and spend their holidays in his cabins and his home.

Mr. Wrightman is intending to remodel and finish his home at Vivian.

A large crowd attended both services at the McCormack Memorial church on Sunday. Mr. Deans of Toronto taught the Sunday-school lesson in the morning, and also preached the sermon at 7 p.m. His message was taken from Matthew 11. He assured his audience that to live a godly life does not mean a path of roses, but persecutions, but that the end of such a life means victory. He was a wonderfully impressive speaker, and no one could listen without resolving in his heart to live the only real life, with a victorious end and future.

After the service Mr. Rowan invited all those who loved the Lord to partake of the sacrament of the Lord's supper, and most of his congregation stayed.

Next Sunday they intend celebrating Mother's Day, and some of the mothers will sing. Everyone is welcome.

THEY GIVE THE OTHER FELLOW THE BREAKS

(In an effort to bring the merits of tennis, and the opportunity for playing, to public attention, Newmarket tennis club officers have prepared the following article.)

A boy in school has an idea that football and baseball are major sports and tennis is a minor sport.
Now, really, he is wrong. Football and baseball are major sports in school because the institution says they are. Can you play football and baseball once you are out of school and college?

When a boy comes out of school or college he will want exercise.
He must have it. What is open to him? He cannot very well collect 24 business friends for football of an afternoon, or 18 of them for baseball. Team games by their very style and type are not open to men in the business world. Individual games are the ones from which a man must draw his exercise.

Tennis is an amateur sport and appeals to the Canadian people.
Tennis is rapidly becoming known as one of the major sports of the world. Tennis gives more to the boy who plays it than any other game. Besides providing exercise, it brings much more.

Tennis is an introduction to some of the finest people in every city and town of any country. Tennis is an amateur sport and its ethics are high. A man must be a sportsman on and off the court to stay in the game.

Tennis needs no paid umpires to keep order and enforce the rules.
The players are always willing to trust their opponents to give them the fairest decision on all points.

The sportsmanship of tennis is so high that it carries with it a great value as a character-builder. A man who is held up to the best and finest of his nature while on the court cannot go off it and be a "mucker." The game lifts the man to its level or, if the man does not meet that level of sportsmanship, he drops out of the game.

The keynote of tennis sportsmanship is generosity to your opponent. If a ball is close to the line in tennis and a player is uncertain how it is, he always gives the benefit of the doubt to the man he is playing and never takes it himself.

This spirit of good sportsmanship is inherent in the Canadian boy. He loves a fair deal and hates a crook. It is the fairness in the game that appeals to him and it is for this reason that tennis, as it is being understood among the boys, is becoming the most popular of games.

Tennis brings you in contact with the people of influence and people of affairs. It is a big asset to you in your business life in after years.

Your business associates learn to know and trust you through your dealings with them. Nowhere will you find a better analysis of a man's character than on a tennis court.

MOUNT ALBERT TILL SAME ACRES FOR FIFTY YEARS

Fifty years ago on May 1, Mr. Ernest Smalley and Miss Mary E. Rose drove to Sandford, where they were married by Rev. Mr. Stewart, the Methodist minister on that circuit at that time. So on this date, May 1, last week, they held a golden wedding celebration at their home at Hartman, when about 55 friends and relatives sat down for tea with them. The decorations were of yellow and white. Smalley wore a lovely corsage bouquet of yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Smalley went to live on the farm they now occupy when they were married and are still farming it. Mrs. Leslie Pegg, their only daughter, was present at the celebration. Their only son passed away some years ago. Friends extend heartiest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Smalley, and trust they may see many more anniversaries.

Miss Margaret Davies of Bradford visited her sister, Mrs. G. Barnes, on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Enrie Griffith and family, of Peterboro, were visitors at the home of Mr. Geo. Scott over the weekend.

Mrs. Walter Armstrong was called to London last week to attend the funeral of her brother, the late Mr. Boyce.

The Calver family have moved into Mr. H. W. Theaker's house at the end of Albion St.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Burkholder of Markham were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Steeper on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. John Moore has returned home for the summer from Winnipeg and Toronto, where she spent the winter months with her daughters, Misses Gertrude and Marjorie Moore.

Mr. Alvin Dike of Lindsay was home over the weekend.

Mrs. Stewart Thompson has been visiting relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Shuttleworth have been at their cottage at Lake Simcoe preparing for the summer.

Next Sunday is Mother's Day, when everyone should attend church and Sunday-school, which will be held at the United church at 11 o'clock. A special program is being prepared and there will be a mothers' choir, and from then on Sunday-school will be held at 10 o'clock for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins of Toronto were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Blyth on Sunday afternoon.

Work has commenced again on the new highway up the eighth concession, which will be a short road to Lake Simcoe.

Mrs. M. Lyons held a recital in the United church on Thursday evening of last week, when those taking part in the festival at Aurora this week from several schools, had a chance to practice on a large audience, who were very appreciative and enjoyed every number, and they are wished all success when they come before the adjudicator.

Rev. and Mrs. R. V. Wilson went to Toronto on Friday last to attend the funeral of Mr. Wilson's cousin, the late Miss Norma H. Wilson.

The Horticultural Society held a meeting in the town hall on Friday evening last, when a splendid crowd came to hear "Dick, the Amateur Gardener," speak, and after listening to him over the radio, it was very nice to be able to both see and hear him.

He is a very pleasing speaker and gave much good information in regard to gardening. His pictures were a visit to the garden through the summer and encouraged people to get out and work in the ground and with nature.

He answered many questions in regard to control of pests of all kinds and how to treat plants and bulbs for these. All those present enjoyed the speaker and it is hoped he will come back again.

Morton Bros. have opened their new garage, which is certainly a credit to them and they have many new accommodations for working.

The rain on Tuesday was the first real good spring shower there has been, and how beautiful everything looked after the dust was washed away.

The country is looking grand and most people are through seeding.

Sports day, on Saturday, June 3, will be an attraction for all the old boys and girls to return to Mount Albert for the weekend. There will be ball games and races and all kinds of entertainment in the afternoon, a concert and dance at night.

The baseball boys held a euchre and dance in the hall on Wednesday evening of last week. Mrs. Arnot Harrison and Mr. Tilley were the lucky prize-winners. The boys are organizing for this year's games.

Queensville

The lunch committee is Mrs. Frank Milne, Mrs. Richmond and Mrs. Mel Wright.

Mrs. H. M. Aitken of radio fame will conduct a cooking school in Queensville United church on Friday afternoon, May 26. All who are interested are asked to keep this date open.

Mrs. Jas. Aylward, who has been ill in the hospital at Newmarket, is somewhat improved in health.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Stephen Scott was held in the United church here on Monday afternoon. The bereaved relatives have the sympathy of the community.

Mrs. Wm. Winkworth of Newmarket and Mrs. Fred Einboden of Mount Dennis spent last Sunday at Mr. W. T. Huntley's.

THE FURROW'S END
BY LEONARD HARMAN

Our farm young people no longer are able to find jobs waiting for them in the big city. Today the cry of "Go West! Young Man. Go West!" would be answered by ironic laughter. Thousands of our young people on farms are receiving little more than food and clothing in return for their work. We need more training in ways of making a living on the farm. Courses such as those conducted at New Year's at the Ontario Agricultural College should be organized in other sections of the province so as to be accessible to more of our young people.

But the greater need is for co-operative education. The Ontario department of agriculture has started experimenting with co-operation by holding a conference and a short course on the subject at the Ontario Agricultural College. The day has come when distribution requires attention equal to that given to production. Better methods of farming cannot solve the problems of people who are offered for their products prices below any reasonable cost of production, and who must match their little bargaining power against that of big business. At the present time nearly as much money is being spent in each of our larger counties on education for productive techniques as is being spent in the whole province on education directly for co-operative distribution. This lack of balance in our education of rural youth represents a survival of the days when we had no surpluses of farm products.

Definite proof of what can be done may be found in the Folk School which was conducted for ten days last January near Park Head in Bruce county. The dozen people who carried out housekeeping as well as studies in a vacant farmhouse were thirsty for ideas and eager to make the school go. Local people were very helpful in making arrangements. In setting up courses under Youth Training plans the people in the localities where the courses are to be held should be given every opportunity to help. The Park Head Folk School proved that, with leadership, all other costs such as food and fuel could be financed on less than 50 cents per person per day.

Tens of thousands of dollars are available in annual grants from the federal government for use under the Dominion-Provincial Youth-Training plan. Less than half of this money, which was available for Ontario, has been used by the provincial government. The only gesture made during the past winter to relate these funds to the rural situation has been the training of farm boys for placement on farms in spite of the number of experienced young people who cannot make a decent living. A year ago there were a few courses for farm girls. It is time the Ontario government made available to rural young people their rightful share of these grants.

When the Hon. Norman Rogers, federal minister of labor, spoke at the civic forum in Pickering College, it was suggested that while much had been done elsewhere under Dominion-Provincial Youth Training plans, York county scarcely had been touched. Why can't we do something here? One answer is shown in a cartoon in the daily press. In the first part of the cartoon the boyish Premier Hepburn is shouting in the provincial legislature: "Why won't Ottawa do something?" In the second part Old Man Ottawa is offering help with youth training and public works, but the now childish Hepburn is running away bawling: "No! No! I won't play."

It is of the very nature of a cartoon that it should illustrate a case by exaggeration. But there is certainly reason to believe that the Ontario government is failing to

A letter from the department of municipal affairs enclosed a copy of a bill amending assessment and municipal taxes, and of a bill of an additional half mill subsidy to townships. A letter from Auditor Leask contained a statement of 1936 and 1937 arrears of taxes.

Hydro contracts of Geo. Rae, Oscar Silversides and Newton Thompson were accepted by council.

The clerk was instructed to notify all who had not taken out licenses for dogs that they are liable to a fine of $10 and after June 1, they may expect a visit from an officer of the law and to be dealt with legally.

Saturday, June 3, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, was set as the date and time for holding a court of revision to consider appeals against the assessment roll.

Accounts passed were as follows: snow roads and dragging, $359.80; F. J. Coultice, hinges and bolts, $1.40; R. Hallett, brushing on roads 4 and 12, $2.20; R. W. Pickering, grease, wire and spikes, $5.75; Ben Koster, stamps, road account, $3.30; E. Kydd, wire fence posts, $16.00.
